POPULATION OF SOUTH CAROLINA BY COUNTIES AND MINOR CIVIL DIVISIONS.

This bulletin, prepared under the direction of Mr. WILLIAM C. HUNT, chief statistician for population, gives the aggregate population of South Carolina by counties and minor civil divisions, according to the official count of the returns of the Twelfth Census, taken as of June 1, 1900.

South Carolina was one of the original thirteen states. Table 1 shows the population of South Carolina at each census from 1790 to 1900, inclusive, together with the increase by number and per cent during each decade.

TABLE 1.—POPULATION OF SOUTH CAROLINA: 1790 TO 1900.

1790.....	249,073	.....	.....

The population of the state in 1900 is 1,340,316 as compared with a population in 1890 of 1,151,149, representing an increase since 1890 of 189,167, or 16.4 per cent. This rate of increase is slightly more than that for the decade immediately preceding, when it was 15.6 per cent, but both these ratios are small when compared with that for the decade from 1870 to 1880, when it was 41.1 per cent, the greatest gain during any decade of the state's history. The population of this state has never increased rapidly, and for several decades, noticeably that from 1860 to 1870, the gain was very slight.

The population of South Carolina in 1900 is somewhat more than five times as large as that given for 1790.

The total land surface of South Carolina is, approximately, 30,170 square miles, the average number of persons to the square mile at the censuses of 1890 and 1900 being as follows: 1890, 38.2; 1900, 44.4.

Table 2 shows the population of South Carolina by counties at each census from 1790 to 1900, inclusive, while table 3, which immediately follows, shows, for each county, the increase (or decrease) by number and per cent during the ten years from 1890 to 1900.

The following territorial changes in the counties of South Carolina have been made since 1890: Bamberg organized from part of Barnwell in 1897; Cherokee organized from parts of Spartanburg, Union, and York in 1897; Dorchester organized from parts of Berkeley and Colleton in 1897; Greenwood organized from parts of Abbeville and Edgefield in 1897; Saluda organized from part of Edgefield in 1896; part of Berkeley annexed to Charleston; and part of Darlington annexed to Florence.

Of the 40 counties in the state 5 have been organized since 1890 and all but 5 have increased in population during the decade, the counties showing the largest percentages of gain being Charleston, 46.9 per cent; Anderson, 27.5 per cent; Oconee, 26.5 per cent; Richland, 23.8 per cent; Lexington, 22.9 per cent; and Aiken, 22.7 per cent.

The 5 counties showing a decrease in population are Abbeville, Barnwell, Berkeley, Colleton, and Edgefield. These counties also suffered losses in territory, withdrawn to form other counties.

Table 4 shows the population of South Carolina by minor civil divisions, so far as it was separately returned at the censuses of 1890 and 1900.

Of the above named 202 incorporated places there are 24 which have more than 2,000 inhabitants, and of these 16 have less than 5,000, and 4 have more than 10,000, namely, Charleston, with 55,807; Columbia, with 21,108; Greenville, with 11,860; and Spartanburg, with 11,395 inhabitants.

Charleston is the only city in South Carolina that has a population in 1900 of more than 25,000, and for this city a summary is presented in table 6, showing its population from 1790 to 1900, inclusive, together with the increase (or decrease) by number and per cent during each of the ten-year periods.

According to this summary Charleston has a population in 1900 of 55,807, as against 54,955 in 1890, representing an increase during the decade of 852, or 1.6 per cent. The censuses of 1820, 1840, 1860, and 1880 show either a loss or a very slight gain, while the alternate censuses of 1830, 1850, and 1870 show a relatively large gain. From 1830 to 1840 the population of the city decreased 3.4 per cent, but in the next decade it increased 46.9 per cent. Likewise from 1850 to 1860 there was a loss in population of 5.7 per cent, but in the next decade a gain of 20.8 per cent; in subsequent decades differences appear, though in less degree. The population of the city in 1790 was 16,359, and it has since then increased more than three fold.
